

Selling office compensation amounts may appear on all agent and broker websites

Refer to resources below

On November 19, 2020, the National Association of REALTORS® (NAR) and the U.S. Department of Justice (DOJ) announced that they are in the process of coming to an agreement that will affect how you use CRMLS products and services.

The DOJ has made it clear that all MLSs in California will need to require their systems to give the option to display selling office compensation on all agent and broker websites.

As of Monday, February 15th, CRMLS will give users the option to display selling office compensation amounts on all agent and broker websites.

CRMLS plans to fully comply with the terms of government-mandated agreements, once finalized.

Please visit NAR's official FAQ to learn more and watch a video explaining the agreement. Visit go.crmls.org/NewRules to keep up to date on how CRMLS will implement this and other rule changes.

Please continue to read communications from CRMLS, NAR, and your local Association or Board on these changes, and let us know if you have any feedback or questions.

Thank you for your continued support.
