

More choice for your CRMLS Flexmls landing page arrives 5/25

Save steps and time with the new Saved Search option

Efficiency is important in your real estate business, so CRMLS is updating your Flexmls experience on Thursday, May 25th to let you set a Saved Search as your default landing page.

Currently, CRMLS Flexmls users can choose between setting the Quick Search or Dashboard as the first page that shows up when they log in. The latest Flexmls upgrade enables you to further streamline your MLS experience by setting a Saved Search as your "First Page Viewed."

To set this default, navigate to the Flexmls Menu > General Preferences > Dashboard > First page viewed after log in, and select your preferred Saved Search:

The screenshot shows the Flexmls dashboard with the following sections:

- My Listings: A list of listing statuses with counts: Active Listings (4), Pending Listings (1), Coming Soon Listings (0), Hold Listings (0), Withdrawn Listings (0), Listings to Expire (0), Closed Listings (0), and Unapproved Listings (2).
- Contacts: A table with columns for Name, Listings, Last Match, and Listings to Approve. The table lists: Allie Flett, Cole Harvey, Katie Renner, Jim Renner, and Katelyn Runner.
- New Search: A search bar with the placeholder "Street Address or MLS #" and a "Run Search" button. Below it, a dropdown menu shows "1 - All Property Types".
- Saved Searches: A list of saved searches with columns for Name and actions (new | edit). The list includes: "123 Home search", "Allie Home Search", "Monica's New Home Search", "Most Recent Unsaved Search", and "Residential Search 1".
- Hot Sheet: A section at the bottom left.
- Display Listings: A section at the bottom right.

Cut out the extra steps of finding your most-used saved searches, and land exactly where you need to when you log into Flexmls. We at CRMLS are excited to bring you this latest upgrade and many more in the future to continue supporting your real estate business.
