Generate reports that cover everything you and your clients need to know

See below about how you can access this new Marketplace product on November 14

For a while now, Local Logic has been integrated into CRMLS systems and providing users with detailed location insights about any address. On November 14, we're expanding our arrangement with Local Logic to offer their NeighborhoodIntel reports, a customizable breakdown of more than 250 unique property-centric data points.

These reports are the most thorough analysis you can get for a listing, and they can be readily shared with clients as a PDF. This means that you can provide extremely detailed data about anything a client is looking for, from community details to market trends to average climate. What's more, they come branded from the agent, so you can be your clients' most reliable source of information.

NeighborhoodIntel will be available on November 14 in the CRMLS Marketplace for $20 a month/per agent for unlimited reports. From the product tile on your dashboard, you'll be directed to the NeighborhoodIntel site to register, and you can cancel any time.

We hope this new treasure trove of hyper-local data gives you the leg up on closing your next deal, and we thank you for your continued support.
